Marginal Column By COMMENTATOR

THROUGHOUT the three centuries of its history the Society of Friends has held a testimony against war. This testimony as to the tragedy and folly of war grows out of our faith in God and our belief in the essential sacredness of human personality. It is our belief that war between the United States and the Soviet Union is not inevitable. Man can to a substantial degree shape his own destiny.

THESE are the opening words of a report containing proposals for peace prepared by a study group of the American Quakers. The Friends Service Committee has an impressive and perhaps unparalleled record of trying to alleviate the bitter lot of the population of war-ravaged countries. Now it has attempted to contribute its share towards the prevention of war and its horrors. The Quaker study group is now in Russia. The Quakers believe in peace and in the triumph of man's spirit over those things which divide peoples and governments, and they are not naive men who will be easily taken in by political propaganda. In their private lives they are hardboiled business and professional men, who can discern between hot air and hard facts.

THE various Communist-sponsored peace campaigns (one will be launched in Israel very soon) have not greatly impressed them, nor do the Quakers believe that too much trust should be put in the Russian people's wish for peace. The Russians long for peace as much as any other people, but it is not so sure that the Soviet leaders will always consult their people before taking vital decisions on war and peace.

THE Soviet leaders are obliged to believe (by virtue of their scientific theory, Marxism-Leninism) in the final and inevitable clash between Communists and the outside world, although they have tried to deny it of late. But Marx, Engels and Lenin never stated that this last and decisive fight should take place in 1951 or 1962.

THE Soviet leaders are doctrinaire only in theory; they show a healthy respect for facts in their policy. Their ideology has been modified in many respects. Instead of economic and social egalitarianism they are on the way to an almost capitalist system, and "proletarian internationalism" has largely been replaced by "Soviet patriotism." The "leader," not the masses, is now the decisive factor in Soviet historiography. Why should they not be willing to postpone the final struggle, especially if victory is by no means assured?

THE Quakers are hopeful, because they believe the Soviet leaders to be clever opportunists. There is nothing disengaging in this estimate. In their latest working paper on the East-West conflict which has just reached me, they say that "History offers examples of mortal conflicts between other great movements which, in later generations, with the cooling of passions and the tempering of fanaticism, have been found to live in peace with each other. In certain respects Islam is a striking example. The conflict between the Moslem and Christian worlds was finally resolved by the destruction of neither."

THE attempts made by the Quakers should not be belittled and their advice not discarded. And it should not be forgotten, that it was one of the greatest living historians, Fredric Tytche, who called Communism the "Islam of the 20th century."

Mapai Board To Discuss Coalition

By a Political Correspondent

The Political Committee of the Israel Labour Party (Mapai) is expected to meet in Tel Aviv tomorrow (Tuesday) evening. An appraisal of the Knesset election results is certain to figure on the agenda, though the Committee must also consider the Party's line of the Zionist Congress opening in Jerusalem next week.

The P.C. is made up of the Mapai representatives in the Cabinet, the Jewish Agency Executive (Israel section), and some of the Party Secretariat. This ad hoc body functions as a sort of clearing centre and steering committee for the Mapai in matters of higher policy. Speculation is rife as to the Party's attitude towards the kind of Coalition Government the Party should launch or approve. It is expected that when the Electoral Committee has announced the final distribution of Knesset seats, Mapai will have about 47 places. Together with the Progressives and the two Labour sections of the religious parties, a "new coalition" of some 50 should be possible.

Hard Bargaining
This number, in present circumstances, is as much as Mapai leaders believe they can expect, and that only after some hard bargaining. This, of course, leaves out of the reckoning the five Arab members affiliated to Mapai, as distinct from the three Arab Communists and Mapai members.

With five Arab members, Mapai could count on a majority of 45 in a House of 120. Occasions might arise, it is true, when the Arabs would not be able to go the whole way with the coalition. On the other hand, no question is at present foreseeable on which the five Arab members would join the possible Opposition of 55 to create a deadlock.

This Mapai calculation, of course, assumes that a coalition is impossible with either the General Zionists or Mapai, let alone Herut and the smaller parties. There appears to be no prospect of even a minimal Mapai programme capable of enlisting collective responsibility and continuing cooperation from either the Mapai or the General Zionists. In the case of the former, the East-West divergence is the main block; in the latter, Mapai's minimal social programme and the features of a welfare state which Mapai would not think of renouncing as the price of G.E. collaboration.

These are among the main pre-occupations of the Mapai leadership, and are sure to figure in tomorrow's deliberations of the Political Committee.

Habeas Corpus Writ For Bet Safafa Man

A writ of habeas corpus in respect of Ibrahim Eya-je, 22, of Bet Safafa, was issued by the High Court yesterday.

The application, submitted by the father of Ibrahim charged that the young man had been illegally imprisoned in June, and now stood under threat of deportation. It was also claimed that the prisoner had not been taken before any competent authority for the issue of a detention order.

Ibrahim had left Bet Safafa after quarrelling with his father. When he returned in June, the Mukhtar informed the Police, and he was imprisoned.

The father pleaded that deportation constituted a threat to the life of his son, since their family is well known for the support it had given to Ibrahim.

Mr. Michael Moshkin appeared for the State. The Court agreed and issued an interim order to stay the deportation of the young man's son decision to follow.

British Support in Suez Issue Called Harmful by Left Paper

British support for our party and the General Zionists, particularly against Egypt in A long-range view, however, the Foreign Council has not taking into account wide national aspirations, dictated by international interests. "Al Ramshar" and editorially yesterday. On the contrary, it may have harmed us in view of the growing antagonism between the British and American Middle Eastern policies.

American oil companies are not in the best interested in the expansion of operations of the Haifa refineries because these installations are British-owned, the writer continues, and is unlikely to act to renew the concession. Generally speaking Israel would do well to take a lesson from the Arab authorities who are exploiting the fact that the U.S. is much more willing to oppose neutrals than to reward its friends. The only solution for the preservation of peace and for an understanding between Israel and Arab countries is the liberation from all imperialist influences.

"Haaretz," while complaining that Mapai leaders have shown no "goodwill" whatsoever after the elections, urged that the General Zionists nevertheless publish a frank and open statement declaring their readiness to enter the government if concessions are made by both sides.

"Haaretz" sees a test of the sincerity of election promises in the incoming rise of Democats rates in the discussion of the adult male ratio. The paper admits, however, that it will be a test case only for Mapai, but the decision will be taken by the General Zionists (Mapai), dominated Tel Aviv Municipal Council.

"David," editorially congratulates Mr. Yaakov, the immigrant collective settling today in Shevet Ha'avot after a long period of waiting. The general editor of "David" commends the other prospective settlements waiting in Shevet Ha'avot, and recommends that the waiting time be shortened whenever possible.

"Haaretz" and "Haicol" comment on the report of the Joint Arab-Jewish Commission on the "New Town" of "Neve Yaakov" with its somewhat one-sided information. "Haicol" claims that the new town is "concentration camp" designed not less than four-fold to the resort, and continues, at the same time, to protest against the expulsion of Palestinian members from Hashomer Ha-Tzair kibbutzim.

Inter-Faith Leader on Study Trip

POST Reporter

The National Conference of Christians and Jews, in the U.S. is an organization which believes it can learn much from Israel.

The Conference was established 10 years ago with the avowed purpose of cementing relations between Jews and Christians in all walks of life. One of the organization's leaders, is in Israel at present to study how this young nation has accomplished the same task with its own widely divergent national colors and cultural groups.

He is Mr. David Trubin, director of the New York region for the National Conference and an experienced leader in social welfare activities and community relations.

"Our problems, of course are somewhat different," he explained, "but I hope to apply to New York many of the methods used here in integrating such a heterogeneous population. New York is also doing much beyond the previous practice of merely exchanging letters. He hopes to expand the programme to other schools and other locales in Israel."

Most of the capital for the expansions will come from the Special Investments Fund which will total almost IL 750,000 this year. The remainder will be covered by legacies.

1,514 immigrants from Russia arrived this morning in the R.R. Tereblyana, and 20 from Bulgaria in the R.R. Vaprost.

Spurred by reports, the International Radio Newsmen's Union, a charter member at the founding conference of the Free Press Agency, Daniel Shear, Kol Vinograd, Correspondent and Honorary Secretary of the Israel Journalists' Association in Jerusalem, was chosen a member of the directorate of the new body.

M. Almogi, 22, and M. Raft, 23, yesterday faced Jerusalem Chief Magistrate, Mr. Gideon, at the first hearing of the preliminary inquiry against them, charged of robbery. They are accused by Justice Officer M. Friedman, of having broken into the apartment of Mr. Michael S. Lerner, attorney on the night of July 4. They were reportedly caught red-handed by a passing police patrol, which interrupted their flight, as the building after Mr. Gideon had called off the search.

Five thousand ILR 100 estimated damage at the garage of Leo Peretz, at Nahalat Shiva, was set ablaze by thieves who opened the store door with false keys on Saturday night.

Night Medical Service Proposed

The Jerusalem Municipal Council last night authorized an annual grant of ILR 6,000 to the Magen David Adom.

During the debate the refusal of a number of Jerusalem doctors to make night calls was criticized. Deputy Mayor M. Gilekman-Porush (Orthodox) declared that this fact had been brought to his attention; Councillor A. Kubayev (Mapam) called it "criminal if true."

Dr. W. Abasi, a Councillor who also heads the Jerusalem branch of Kupat Holim, said that he knew of cases of persons who had to ask the aid of police in getting emergency medical service at night. He added, however, that often there were extenuating circumstances such as illness of the doctor himself, or his age.

Dr. Drabkin proposed that the city help to set up a night schedule for doctors, such as exists for pharmacists. He noted that the city's Health Committee was dealing with the problem. The Council decided to await the Committee's action.

Baron, Mr. S. Sharf (Mapam), charged that the Committee on Social Planning, headed by Deputy Mayor M. Rubin (Mapam), was showing favoritism in arranging the construction of various projects. Mr. Rubin, who charged that Mr. Drabkin had not yet come to him to study the matter, said the meeting was cut short by the sudden indisposition of the Mayor. Two more sessions will be held this week, one tomorrow and the other on Thursday, following which the Council will recess for one month.

Striking Seamen Called Destructive

Cinemas Ask Single Tax

TEL AVIV, Sunday (UTM). — The striking seamen and their leaders were "a destructive element bent on undermining Histadrut authority," Mr. Y. Almogi, Labour Council Secretary, charged before the Supreme Histadrut Tribunal here today. Mr. Almogi opened the hearings against the Shalom seamen who recently struck in Haifa and Tel Aviv.

With regard to the foreign currency status of the members of the I.P.A., he stated that the Haifa Labour Council had tried to obtain the best possible results from the Treasury, and declared that there was any link between the strike and the call-up of some of the men.

Mr. Almogi then described in detail the events leading up to and attending the strike of the Negah crew at Marseilles. The seamen had approved the strike with a majority of only six votes and those favouring it had terrorized the others, he stated. The Israel Consul at Marseilles had almost been thrown overboard, and Communist leaders were known to have visited the strikers, he declared.

The decision of the Court would determine the future of the Israel merchant fleet, he concluded.

Mapam Charges Coercion

The defense advocate, Mr. Y. Koenig, a Mapam town councillor, said that Mr. Almogi's argument reminded him of Czarist Russia, where all unrest had been blamed on agitators. The sailors' long-standing dissatisfaction had produced a strike last year, he said. The official union could not be representative as its staff were either employees of Shearim, or else men who had left the sea, he stated. The company and the union had tried to reach the seamen in line by threats, and the call-up of the strike leaders was by no means accidental, he charged.

Conditions aboard the Negah at Marseilles had been bad because of the heat, the stench, the lack of water and rations, and French shipyard workers had found the conditions intolerable, he claimed.

On Friday, the same criminal, identified as Solomon Cohen, 30, of Tel Aviv, was being told during questioning that his case would be taken to court, jumped from a fourth floor window at the Police Headquarters and was killed instantly.

Eddie Cantor Youth Aliya Home Opened in Judean Hills

The Eddie Cantor Youth Aliya Home at Ma'ale Ha-hamisha, the foundation stone of which was laid a year ago by the famous film star himself, was officially opened last night in the presence of the American Ambassador, Mr. Monnet; B. Davis, and a large gathering of distinguished guests, many of whom had travelled from the United States.

The Institute — a group of handsome white bungalows at the western corner of the settlement — has been functioning for about half a year, and the fifty 13-year-old pupils — from North Africa and various European countries — have already been thoroughly acclimated, as they showed in their various displays.

Mr. Davis said that during the six months he had been in this country he and Mrs. Davis had had occasion to see a great deal of the work of Youth Aliya, "and it never fails to give us a thrill."

Mr. Monnet, Director of the Jewish Agency, expressed his gratitude to Haifa in the United States, which, in addition to the Institute, had helped to establish a special building fund and had collected $10,000 for this purpose during the past two years.

In 19 months since the hospital was opened, 1,200 babies were born in its maternity ward.

Construction work, undertaken by Solel Boneh, will start immediately on the farm buildings and the dwellings, which will house 40 teenagers each. The cost of the buildings being put up in the first stage is expected to reach about IL 200,000.

Among those present at the ceremony this afternoon were many guests from abroad. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Baba Isidor, member of the Board of the Israel Defense Fund, and a representative of the National Fund.

Aid Sought Abroad For Milk Problem

TEL AVIV, Sunday (UTM). — Ministry of Health officials are in contact with international relief organizations in an effort to secure aid in improving the "serious situation" municipal tax levied by municipalities on cinema tickets will be placed before the Cinema Owners Association at a meeting in Jerusalem next Friday, the chairman, Mr. G. Starots, told a press conference here today.

The spokesman also reported that the existing deficiencies were known to the Ministry for a number of months, but would not be corrected because of the shortage of foreign exchange, which presented the purchase of glassware, building plants and new machinery.

It is understood that a special inter-ministerial committee which has been studying the problem for the past 12 months has concluded that compulsory pasturization is the best solution.

The group, which consists of representatives of the Ministries of Health, Agriculture and Social Welfare, decided that it could not press the matter because of the shortage of foreign exchange.

Jerusalem Strike

As to the strike in Jerusalem, he pointed out that while the Government had lowered the tax imposed for that city after the War of Liberation, the Municipality increased levying more than the Carmel market today following police raids on secret warehouses nearby which reportedly netted several tons of black market foodstuffs.

A POST reporter who toured the market this afternoon found most of the stalls closed and covered with sacks.

In one room in Rehov Rabinovitz, a block away from the main market place, the police economic squad found potatoes and onions piled almost to the ceiling. Two blocks away they discovered, earlier in the day, two tenders loaded with several dozen cases of large-size apples. Numerous persons including hawkers were arrested and the vegetables and fruit impounded.

Police Raid Black Vegetable Markets

TEL AVIV, Sunday. — vegetables, already scarce this summer, were non-existent in the Carmel market today following police raids on secret warehouses nearby which reportedly netted several tons of black market foodstuffs. DUTCH 'HANDICAPPED' IN JAPANESE TREATY

THE HAGUE, Sunday (Reuter). — Holland's efforts to safeguard her interests involved in the Japanese Peace Treaty were being "handicapped" compared with those given Italy. The Government said this in a white paper published by the Finance Ministry on Friday.

It predicted that most of the 51 powers invited to sign the part in San Francisco next month would do so, and agreed with Mr. John Foster Dulles that the settlement had been worked out in a spirit of "reconciliation and trust."

The fact that the treaty imposes no restrictions on Japanese rearmament "may be interpreted to mean that Japan is regarded as trustworthy" and that consideration is given to Japan's special position under the changed international situation, the white paper said.

ZERA MURDER TRIAL ENDS

The trial of David Ezra, "The Limping One," charged with the murder of Yehuda Cohen, ended yesterday. Judgment is expected within a fortnight.

The District Attorney, Mr. E. Hadaya, demanded a verdict of guilty of murder. If the Court could not reach this decision, he urged a verdict of guilty of manslaughter or attempted housebreaking.

David Ezra is charged with having murdered Cohen while they were breaking into some stores in the Bokharim Quarter of Jerusalem, last November. The Police Headquarters and Petah Tikva are involved.

Mr. E. Hadaya argued for the defense that the condemned犯人 could not be held guilty of murder. No evidence, moreover, that logically supported the admission of guilt, and he submitted that the prosecution's witnesses were unreliable.

He also contended that there was no evidence to show that the accused had committed the murder, rather than Petah Tikva.

The prosecution maintained that it had brought sufficient evidence to support the confession of the accused.

The Court was composed of Judge Halevy, President, and Judges Mani and Eisenberg.

Over 1,000 spectators crowded into the courtroom to witness the trial.
